

Name: _____

Nouns

A noun can be concrete or abstract.

A concrete noun can be observed by our senses. We can see, touch, hear, taste, or smell it.

An abstract noun is something we cannot see, touch, hear, taste, or smell. It is something we experience like an idea or an emotion.

examples:

The elephant ate peanuts. Elephant and peanuts are concrete nouns.

My birthday is in October. Birthday and October are abstract nouns.

Read the following sentences. Write an "c" above the nouns that are concrete and an "a" above the nouns that are abstract.

1. After dinner Molly felt very full.
2. Sarah felt love for her new puppy.
3. My Mom will pick me up from school.
4. Next month Henry will go on vacation.
5. When Ethan broke his leg, he felt intense pain.

ANSWER KEY

Nouns

A noun can be concrete or abstract.

A concrete noun can be observed by our senses. We can see, touch, hear, taste, or smell it.

An abstract noun is something we cannot see, touch, hear, taste, or smell. It is something we experience like an idea or an emotion.

examples:

The elephant ate peanuts. Elephant and peanuts are concrete nouns.

My birthday is in October. Birthday and October are abstract nouns.

Read the following sentences. Write an "c" above the nouns that are concrete and an "a" above the nouns that are abstract.

1. After ^c dinner ^c Molly felt very full.

2. ^c Sarah felt ^a love for her new ^c puppy.

3. My ^c Mom will pick me up from ^c school.

4. Next ^a month ^c Henry will go on ^a vacation.

5. When ^c Ethan broke his ^c leg, he felt intense ^a pain.